

Billinge Medical Practice move to Garswood Health Centre

Frequently Asked Questions

We have prepared this FAQ document in response to the questions and concerns patients have raised following the recent letter about the planned move to the First Floor in Garswood Health Centre and the invitation to the patient meeting. The questions included in this document have come directly from patient feedback and we have grouped them into key themes so we can provide clear and helpful information in one place.

As further questions are received, we will continue to review the themes and update this FAQ document, so that patients have access to the most up-to-date information available.

We understand that the planned move from Recreation Drive has caused worry and uncertainty for many patients. We are sorry that this has been unsettling. We are glad patients have contacted us with questions, as this helps us understand what information people need.

The most important points are these:

- Billinge Medical Practice is not closing.
- You will remain registered with Bilinge Medical Practice.
- You do not need to take any action.

What is happening?

Billinge Medical Practice has to move from the current Recreation Drive building because the landlords have served notice requiring the practice to leave.

Following an options appraisal, NHS Cheshire and Merseyside Integrated Care Board (ICB), working with the GP Partners and NHS estates colleagues, has approved a move to:

Garswood Health Centre

First Floor

Billinge Road

Garswood

WN4 0XD

This will allow the practice to remain open and continue providing NHS GP services to patients.

Is Bilinge Medical Practice closing?

No.

Billinge Medical Practice is not closing. The practice is relocating because it cannot remain in the current Recreation Drive building.

Do I need to re-register?

No.

If you are already registered with Billinge Medical Practice, you will remain registered with Billinge Medical Practice.

You do not need to fill in any forms or re-register.

When will the move happen?

The practice has to leave the Recreation Drive building by 4th September 2026.

We are currently working to confirm the exact date that services will start to be delivered from the first floor in Garswood Health Centre.

Until patients are told otherwise, services will continue to be delivered from Recreation Drive.

We will write to patients again to confirm the date of the move before services start at Garswood Health Centre.

Is the move temporary or permanent?

Because the practice was given six months' notice to leave the current building, the priority was to find a safe and suitable option within the time available.

An options appraisal took place. The first floor at Garswood Health Centre was identified as the most suitable option. Garswood Health Centre is a high-standard, purpose built facility, providing stability for Billinge Medical practice and its patients.

We are committed to ongoing assessment and evaluation of the relocation to ensure patient and practice needs are being met.

Further clarification regarding the changes and the reason for change

Why can't the practice stay at Recreation Drive?

The practice cannot remain at Recreation Drive because notice has been served by the landlords.

The building also requires significant work. The practice, the ICB and NHS estates colleagues have had to consider what is safe, suitable and available within the required timescale.

The priority has been to keep Billinge Medical Practice open and avoid disruption to patient care.

Why was Garswood Health Centre chosen?

Garswood Health Centre is a high-standard, purpose built facility, providing stability for Billinge Medical practice and its patients.

It was identified through the options appraisal as the most suitable option. It allows the practice to move and continue providing NHS GP services.

We are committed to ongoing assessment and evaluation of the relocation to ensure patient and practice needs are being met.

Were other sites considered?

Yes. A number of options were considered as part of the options appraisal process.

For a site to be suitable, it needed to be available within the required timescale, safe for patients and staff, suitable for NHS clinical services, affordable, and able to support the number of appointments and services the practice provides.

Not every empty or available building can safely be used as a GP surgery. Some buildings would need significant work, approvals, funding, planning or adaptation before they could be used for clinical care.

Will details of the options appraisal be shared?

Yes. The ICB has confirmed that details of the options appraisal will be shared with patients.

Can the practice provide some services from another local site?

The practice, the ICB and NHS colleagues will continue to review opportunities to deliver services in line with the wider neighbourhood approach.

At this stage, the confirmed relocation site is Garswood Health Centre.

Why can't the NHS or the current GP Partners buy the Recreation Drive building?

We understand why patients have asked this question. GP surgery buildings are not always owned by the NHS. Many GP practices operate from buildings that are privately owned and leased to the practice. In this case, the Recreation Drive building is privately owned by former GP Partners.

The current GP Partners inherited a longstanding premises issue. Over the last two years significant work has taken place between the practice, NHS Cheshire and Merseyside Integrated Care Board, NHS estates colleagues and the landlords to try to secure a workable lease and find a solution that would allow services to continue from Recreation Drive.

Unfortunately, it has not been possible to reach a lease agreement that provides the long-term security needed for the practice to remain in the building.

Buying the building has also been considered, but this is not affordable or viable because of the purchase cost and the significant investment that would be needed to bring the building up to the standard required for modern NHS healthcare.

For the NHS to support the purchase of a building, it must represent value for money, be suitable for long-term healthcare use, and fit with wider NHS estates plans. Given the asking price, refurbishment costs and the need to use public money responsibly, purchasing the Recreation Drive building was not identified as a viable option.

The priority has therefore been to secure a safe and suitable location within the timescale available, so that Billinge Medical Practice can remain open and continue to provide care for patients.

How have patients been engaged in this process, and their views considered?

Since informing registered patients of the eviction notice in March, the practice has continued to involve, listen to and gather the views of patients.

The practice has held two patient meetings – attended by the ICB - and has also met regularly with members of the Patient Participation Group (PPG).

Feedback from patients - including a survey conducted by the PPG - was considered as part of the options appraisal process and will continue to be collected, monitored and reviewed as part of the mobilisation plan.

Why was the decision made before the patient meeting?

The practice has been given a fixed timescale to leave the Recreation Drive building.

Because of this, a decision had to be made quickly - to protect patient services and allow the practice to continue operating.

The patient meeting is an opportunity to explain the process, answer questions, listen to concerns and discuss the next steps.

Did an Equality Impact Assessment (EIA) and Quality Impact Assessment (QIA) take place?

Yes. An Equality Impact Assessment and a Quality Impact Assessment were completed as part of the decision-making and planning process.

An Equality Impact Assessment looks at whether a change may affect some patients more than others, including older patients, disabled patients, carers, patients with mobility needs, patients who do not drive, patients with communication needs, and patients with other protected characteristics under the Equality Act 2010. This helps the NHS and the practice consider their equality duties, including the need to reduce disadvantage and make reasonable adjustments where appropriate.

A Quality Impact Assessment looks at whether a proposed change could affect the quality of care, including patient safety, clinical effectiveness and patient experience. NHS England guidance says QIAs should be used as part of decision-making when planning, approving and implementing changes to health and care services.

The assessments considered the likely impact of the move, including travel, access to the building, mobility needs, parking, continuity of care, home visits, prescriptions, appointment access and the ability of the practice to keep services running safely.

The assessments do not mean that every concern can be fully removed. They do mean that the impact on patients has been considered, risks have been identified, and actions are being taken where possible to reduce the impact. This includes confirming lift access, accessible toilet facilities, baby changing facilities, prescription arrangements, continued home visits where medically required, and ongoing review of travel and access concerns with NHS and local partners.

The practice, NHS Cheshire and Merseyside Integrated Care Board and NHS colleagues will continue to review patient feedback as the move is planned and after services start from Garswood Health Centre.

These assessments will continue to inform the move planning and will be reviewed alongside patient feedback where further risks or concerns are identified.

Will details of the EIA be shared?

Yes. The ICB has confirmed that details of the EIA will be shared with patients.

We understand that attending a new building may feel unfamiliar at first. We are reviewing the arrival process, signage and patient flow so patients know where to go when they arrive at Garswood Health Centre.

Will there be clear signs at Garswood Health Centre?

Yes. Clear signage will be part of the move planning.

We will provide further information before the move so patients know where to go when they arrive.

Will my information remain confidential at the new site?

Yes. Patient confidentiality will continue to apply in the same way.

Billinge Medical Practice will continue to follow NHS information governance, confidentiality and data protection requirements. Sharing a building with another practice does not mean patient records or confidential information are shared.

Will Billinge Medical Practice and Garswood Surgery share the same waiting room?

Billinge Medical Practice and Garswood Surgery will be based in the same health centre, but they will remain separate GP practices.

We are working through the practical arrangements for patient flow, reception, signage and waiting areas. Patients will be given clear information before the move so they know where to go when they arrive.

I do not drive. How will I get to Garswood?

We understand this is one of the biggest concerns raised by patients, especially for patients in Orrell, Longshaw and Billinge Higher End.

We know there is not a direct bus route from some areas to Garswood Health Centre.

Travel and access were considered as part of the Equality Impact Assessment.

Patients who are medically housebound will continue to be considered for home visits where clinically appropriate.

We will continue to update patients as more information is available.

Local MPs and councillors have stated they will work with local public transport providers to improve links between Orrell, Billinge and Garswood.

What support is available for carers or patients who may struggle to attend?

Please tell the practice if you are a carer or if the person you support may find the move difficult.

We cannot remove every difficulty, but we can record relevant needs, consider reasonable adjustments where appropriate and help patients understand the options available.

Travel, access and mobility needs have been considered as part of the Equality Impact Assessment, and patient feedback will continue to be reviewed as the move is planned.

Will home visits increase because some patients cannot travel?

Home visits will continue where they are medically required.

A home visit is based on clinical need. Difficulty with transport alone does not automatically mean a home visit is clinically appropriate, but we understand that travel is a concern and this has been considered as part of the Equality Impact Assessment.

Patients who are housebound or medically unable to attend the surgery will continue to be assessed for home visits in the usual way.

What if I cannot afford a taxi to Garswood?

We understand that travel costs are a real concern for some patients.

The practice cannot reimburse travel costs for GP appointments, but travel and access concerns have been raised through the Equality Impact Assessment and are being reviewed with NHS and local partners.

Patients who are medically housebound will continue to be assessed for home visits where clinically appropriate.

No.

Prescription arrangements will continue as they do now.

You can continue to request prescriptions using:

Most prescriptions are sent electronically to your nominated pharmacy. You can choose the pharmacy that is most convenient for you.

The pharmacy is separate from Billinge Medical Practice, but patients can continue to use it as their nominated pharmacy if they wish.

Yes.

A patient meeting has been arranged:

Yes.

The venue has a maximum capacity, so patients need to register in advance.

To register, please telephone:

01744 624 429

How will patients be updated after the meeting?

We will continue to update patients in writing and through practice communication channels.

We will also update this FAQ document as further questions are received and as more information is confirmed.

How will patient feedback be used?

Patient feedback is being reviewed to identify common themes and concerns.

The main themes raised so far include transport, parking, lift access, prescriptions, the move date, whether the move is temporary or permanent, and why other sites were not chosen.

This feedback helps us understand what patients are worried about, what information needs to be clearer and what issues need to be raised with NHS colleagues involved in the move planning.

Can patient feedback change the decision?

The practice cannot remain in the Recreation Drive building because notice has been served requiring the practice to leave.

The decision to relocate to Garswood Health Centre was made following an options appraisal and within the timescale available.

Patient feedback remains important. It helps us understand what patients are most worried about and what practical issues need further attention. Feedback can help shape the move planning, including communication, access information, signage, prescription arrangements, reasonable adjustments, parking monitoring and travel concerns that need to be raised with NHS and local partners.
